Right or Wrong

Running on empty the road is too late You'll never get there where you belong Chasing the shadows that you'll never see Falling in love with your enemy

You just can't hide >From your tears inside You've got to try Facing the truth eye to eye

But your body is weak so is mine

Right - I still don't know were you're going
Wrong - I'll never find out the way
Right - is this the truth that you're showing
Wrong - what should I believe

Heart full of sorrow that tears you apart Vultures behind you right from the start They keep on waiting for the moment you fall Time is against you it's building a wall

And in the end No one will lend you his hand You'll be alone Chained on this silly throne

And your heart is losing the fight

Right - I still don't know were you're going Wrong - I'll never find out the way Right - is this the truth that you're showing Wrong - what should I believe Right - then I just fall into nowhere Wrong - and I'm losing my way Right - why don't you say that you care Wrong - what should I believe

Right, wrong, right, wrong...

At Vance