

Collides with Beauty

ATB

And I know
And I know

And I know, you know
It should be me that's holding you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's touching you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

I'm upside down and inside out
The room's not big enough
I'm waiting for your love
Been waiting for your love

Goin' 'round and 'round, half falling down
The floor's not flat enough
I'm waiting for your love
Been waiting for your love

And I know, you know
It should be me that's holding you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's touching you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's holding you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's loving you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

It's too much, it's not enough
The walls can't hold me up
I'm waiting for your love
Been waiting for your love

I'm back and forth and forth and back
The window's fogging up
I'm waiting for your love
Been waiting for your love

And I know, you know
It should be me that's holding you
And I know that pride

Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's touching you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's holding you
And I know that pride
Collides with beauty

And I know, you know
It should be me that's loving you
Collides with beauty
