Yesterday Threw Everything at Me

Athlete

Elevated to your side, Now i'm nervous It's time to tell you honestly, so we can alter history

You are, first on my list, When everything around is gone i know You are, first on my list When everything is shown up for what it is

Plastic flowers that fight for colour Shadows floating on the ground, that always follow Like international acclam, it comes and goes never the same

You are, first on my list, When everything around is gone i know You are, first on my list When everything is shown up for what it is

And i will run with you And sunlight will break into my eyes And it seems you plugged in the world in 'cause sunlight is streaming from your eyes

You are, first on my list, When everything around is gone i know You are, first on my list When everything is shown up for what it is

Let's take our time, it won't change over night we got a chance we didn't have before Let's take our time, it won't change over night we got a chance we didn't have before
