I'll Remember You

Atlantic Starr

Words have left us all alone And something's come between us To turn the fire cold Thoughts that chase you in the night

Silently the storm The life from in your eyes And I remain alone, no matter Who may try and take your place

And I'll remember you The dreams we could of dreamed The tears I should have seen We used to say forever

But I'll remember you Your pure and simple heart Your shadows painted dark I will always love you I'll remember you

Summer rain to fallen snow We knew that it would last But there's no way to know It's such a storm that's in the sky

Quietly will pass, quietly we'll cry And here I stand, alone with every promise Melted through my hands

And I'll remember you The dreams we could of dreamed The tears I should have seen We used to say forever

But I'll remember you Your pure and simple heart Your shadows painted dark I will always love you I'll remember you

Oh, and I remain alone No matter who may try and take your place

And I'll remember you The dreams we could of dreamed The tears I should have seen We used to say forever

But I'll remember you Your pure and simple heart Your shadows painted dark I will always love you I'll remember you

And I'll remember you The dreams we could of dreamed The tears I should have seen We used to say forever

But I'll remember you Your pure and simple heart Your shadows painted dark I will always love you I'll remember you

I'll remember you I'll remember you