

Put our time in a frame
And the ink on a page
You bridge the distance
And it's close as you stand
Give me hope without a plan
To bridge the distance
That you just levitate
Above it all like there's nothing to say
As I could only wait
For as long as you wanted to take
That you just levitated away

As the stones to sand
The island breaks from land
And becomes the distance
And pride is all I have in time there's nothing built to last
You become the distance

Cause you just levitate
As I could only wait for as long as you wanted to take
Then you just levitated away
Cause you just levitate
As I could only wait for as long as you wanted to take
Then you just levitated away
Thoughts roll in slowly crashing down
As you're high on the traps and the hatches down
Thoughts roll in slowly crashing down
As you're high on the traps and the hatches down
