You Took Me By Surprise

Atom and His Package

You took em by surprise, you roll those crazy eyes, Like the letter, the things inside your head I can't make up my mind, you know that that's a lie I really have no decision to be amde

You took me by surprise You took me by surprise

And then you amde me laugh and now i have a question, "did you have to do that?" I feel so dumb inside, i'm tryign to decide But you'd never await my arrival

You took me by surprise You took me by surprise

I lke to put myself, pretend i'm soneoen else Someoen who could write better words than this:

You took me by surprise You took me by surprise

You took me by surprise, you roll those crazy eyes, Like the letter, the things inside your head I can't make up my mind, you know that that's a lie I really have no decision to be made

Walking in the park When everything went dark, I thougth i saw your picture i the shadows But i wasn't that at all, in fact It was my car It was someone laughing making me feel small

Maybe i shuld explain, the best that i can But that would get me in trouble, Maybe more than i could handle, i feel bad right now I know that i'm not lucky, so i'll keep my mouth shut and i'll just s ave it for anyone, And "what's that?" you might ask, and i will say, "i really don't kno W, I was just being dramatic like a television show"

Some day i will slip, and i'll say the wrong thing, And the credits will roll and reality will kick in And i say some day i will slip, and i'll say the wrong thing, And the credits will roll and reality will kick in