All in Satan's Name

Atomic Rooster

Three thousand million chessmen on a planetry board Play the game of chess to march the hordes of demons onward In the unfallen game out on the checkered plain The week when all the lemmings went down to the sea They scattered in the air they just want the evil that they fear

From the unfallen game on the checkered plain - \mbox{All} in satan's name

Well evil don't give ya no jive
It'll eat your soul while you're alive
So when you play the game just the holiness of your name
Keep the plain straight and you'll find your own game
Yes you will - Battle on