

It's Not Enough

Attica Blues

Opens her eyes
Doubting she slept at all
Waiting for him
Wanting the call
It's getting late
And she's tired of it
Where could he be?
Who could he be with?
She doesn't trust
But she still needs him
One thing is known - that she can't let go

It's not enough to think that you're in love
It's not enough to need
It's not enough just to be
You have to show that it's real

He feels the same - still thinks nothing's changed
She'll always be there
No one is to blame
She's the only one, but something's wrong here
Disturbing silence starting to creep in
It's passing by them
The friendship's wearing thin
Long as love survives it's alright in his eyes

But it's not enough to think that you're in love
It's not enough to need
It's not enough just to be
You have to know what it means

They argue over what never bothered them before
Don't realize they're doing it anymore
Immune to pain
Just let it wash away

It's not enough