The Lucky One

Au Revoir Simone

A dream of togetherness Turned into a brighter mess A faint sign my spoken best Now, now

Make way for the simple hours No finding the time its ours A fate or it's a desire I know

So I was the lucky one Reading letters, not writing them Taking pictures of anyone I know

So let the sunshine
So let the sunshine
So let the sunshine let it come
To show us that tomorrow is eventual
We know it when the day is done
