

Bleak prudence, bleaker grace
Amidst from these venomish losses
Prime leagues leads on through vivid senses
We have grasped we have honoured
Though we seduce envied secrets
Apart we breath the true...
Sons of Hades
So, we inherit this flock
And it's stone cold desire Winged lashes ablazed and sat these fragments afire
Then erased the true
Sons of Hades
We had one soul
Who - while it was ours - in it's duty and obedience gave us this.
Now gather and surmise, see it's face now beautified Our laughters was spoken for The eagles went away
And the goddess of thorns was our prudent flame Fearless we deny the sweet shepards love and his buried heart
As (well as) the shade of his forsaken father and his pale senses