

The Guest

Automatic Loveletter

There's a ghost inside my attic stealing all the air.
Uninvited, you're just passing here and everywhere.
Thoughts of you in high rotation suffocating me.
Like a thief in my hotel room breaking in and entering.
We checked out of this place, been vacant so long.
Why won't the past just leave me alone?

Get out of my head, there's just no more room.
How could you forget, there's no me and you?
Won't give anymore, nothing's inside.
There's no me and you.
How could you forget?

Feeding anger and my addiction luring all my energy.
In vagrant space with this attraction sucking all the air I breathe.
I gave into love and cheated my faith.
I gave you my anger, my pain, and my hate.
'Cause your my distraction with your apathy.
Now I won't give you my anything.

Get out of my head, there's just no more room.
How could you forget, there's no me and you?
Won't give anymore, nothing's inside.
There's no me and you.
How could you forget?
How could you forget?

[?]
I don't owe you anything.
Wash your hand clean.

Get out of my head, there's just no more room.
How could you forget, there's no me and you?
Won't give anymore, nothing's inside.
There's no me and you.
How could you forget?

Get out of my head, there's just no more room.
How could you forget, there's no me and you?
Won't give anymore, nothing's inside.
There's no me and you.
How could you forget?
How could you forget?
How could you forget?