

Epilogue (What's Done Is Done)

Autumn

In this cascade of memories I wonder what could have changed, had I changed
Questioning what and why can't undo the day
Yes, I realize...
What's done is done, but the night time raised the mist to another day in shame

Can I only look back and wonder what could have changed, had I changed?
Time is ebbing away, but it's in no rush today What's done is done but the migraine still persists and the autumn rain remains

Show me the nearest well to drown my discomfort
A shallow pool
A shallow pool of hope will do
Show me the nearest well to wash my tears away
A shallow pool
A shallow pool of hope will do

Can I only look back and wonder What could have changed, had I...?