

In A Different Light

Avalon

Don't cry for me
No, I've never been the one to shoulder the weight of the world
'Cause I believe
This is here and it's now but it's not my home

There's a hope beyond what my eyes can see
And there's a place that He's preparing for me

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light

Don't be afraid
Of the twists and the turns of the road that we're on
Just believe there'll come a day
When our faith turns to sight and we'll see His face

While we're here the heartache's hard to ignore
So for now, we'll keep our eyes on the Lord

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light

Though for now, we see things dimly
There's a voice that speaks within me
Leading me to a different light, in a different way
In a different light

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light

Nothings gonna keep us here
We'll go a different way, it'll be all right
From the other side we'll see it clear
On a different day, in a different light
