

Babylon Vampyres

Avantasia

A lot of good advice
nobody's keeping for themselves
If you're playing by the rules you'll be a trophy on a shelf Give in to the ordinary run of things like it is meant to be There's nothing left of me

Praying for salvation, floating with the tide
The very first temptation
drags you to the other side
You learn to walk and run
You fly until you fall as far as I can see

The future ahead was not what it used to be Blessed was the darkness - veiling hypocrisy

Babylon is burning, shining from afar
Babylon is burning
From sunset to sunrise

Babylon is burning
and you're glowing like a fiery star
And no one can tell if we've been for real
Babylon is burning
Babylon is burning

They say it's coming by the night to engraft into the brain what a scientific tongue won't recall or even phrase
It's crawling up your spine to breed a wicked freak of nature
We will be a new society

Headless congregation, a vortex needing more
The road to good intentions is evil to the core
The devil and the deep blue sea are waiting Side by side for me
The sweet scent of poison
hazing the dread away
This side of the moon I'll confess to... another day
Babylon is burning, shining from afar

Babylon is burning
From sunset to sunrise
Babylon is burning
and you're glowing like a fiery star
And no one can tell if we've been for real
Yeah

Ever since I can remember
I've been shooting up that road with a dream
I saw gold at the end of the rainbow
I was given an idea of what life should be What life should be

Ain't there a light above the shadow
Ain't there blood in the machine
Ain't there flesh they'd been misleading Ain't there a longing soul within?

I've seen believers on the wayside
And I'm afraid to say, I think just like you That failed to pretend they could cope with what they'd find
When they didn't have a clue - just like you
Babylon is burning, shining from afar

Babylon is burning
From sunset to sunrise
Babylon is burning
and you're glowing like a fiery star
And no one can tell if we've been for real, oh
Babylon is burning, shining from afar

Babylon is burning
From sunset to sunrise

Babylon is burning
and you're glowing like a fiery star
And no one can tell if we've been for real
