

Isle of Evermore

Avantasia

From a frozen world will you take me over
All alone, sweet embrace
Leave the place I can't abide no more

Take a look at ourselves
Afraid to get closer
Will the predetermination drive us to a distant shore

The tender velvet gown of destination left behind

I'm wide awake
I'm on my way to evermore
And I turn around to fading shores
I'll sail on through this opening door
Wide awake onto the isle of evermore
I'm dead to the world
You blindfold my eyes
While you're killing what I'm yearning for

You just see what your eyes have been told to tell you
Falling down to the ground
How come you ask if what you feel is true

I'm staring at the maze and let it paralyze me
Watch it come alive
And burn me out until I'm coming through

The tender velvet gown of slumber will leave me just breathing

Wide awake I'm on my way to evermore
And I turn around to fading shores
I'll sail on through this opening door
Wide awake onto the isle of evermore
I'm dead to the world
You blindfold my eyes
While you're killing what I'm yearning for
What I'm yearning for..

Wide awake I'm on my way to evermore
And I turn around to fading shores
I'll sail on through this opening door
Wide awake onto the isle of evermore
I'm dead to the world
Blindfold my eyes
While you're killing what I'm yearning for