

Eternity is a goal I must have fallen
Through my pride being perfect in my ways
The morning starling fire down from heaven
Oh every wrap into a gown of grace

I hear the screams that echo from the darkness
I swear from dawn to dusk came off the edge
Oh hear the creature crying in the distance
Buried in the symbol on a shelf

I'll take you home tonight, to center of your soul
I'll take you home tonight, fire, flesh and blood
Touching the flames tonight, touching the flames tonight

Morning is dying, brace me on these grounds, angel of light

How will I forgive him who wouldn't forgive me who just value the power
How should I live in peace with the one, I'll shining be in the happy devour
The feeling of light under the skies, black shape is the moon on our scarlet tonight
I'll make you fume in fury and rage I'll make you see what you made of tonight

I'll take you home tonight, to center of your soul
I'll take you home tonight, fire, flesh and blood
Touching the flames tonight, touching the flames tonight
Touching the flames tonight, touching the flames tonight