Avery Watts

By myself for some time
There's nothing in my life
And everything I see reminds me of the pain

It seems these days just never end And I'm my only friend What better way to start again?

With this time will come a reason

Together we will see a changing of the season

This is what we really need

And when I say "We"

I mean you and me

Let's go
We'll leave
Make all new memories

I need to know Please show me Take me home

Let's go We'll leave Make all new memories

I need to know Please save me Take me home

How could I forget the times
With no one by my side?
I'd trade it all for just one chance at something new

The time has come to stop this game And throw away the shame We can make this go away
