

Remember Last Time

Avi Buffalo

Remember last time, you know how it went
I thought it served you all too well
And all along I had something in my eye
How long can we go this close,
How soon before my laughs die?
If I had to tell you, something about myself
I don't think that you could have handled it well
You don't put up with so much stuff that you're cool
How long did I really last,
How soon were you sick of me too?

Why'd don't we just go and ruin everything
By taking this westbound, I know I seem too keen
We'll only stop to talk about our feelings
How good did you really feel,
How much was he willing to spare
I've never written a love song, but I will for you

I've never written a love song,
I've never written a love song,
I've never written a love song,
I've never written a love song...
...I've never written a love song, but I will for you
