

Wicked Wicked World

Aviators

The darkness
Lends an heartless drone to the endless wailing
Forgive me
For so very long I've been blindly sailing
Across your sea of broken dreams
Your darkest days and saddest scenes
Our glass house cracked
So don't look back
It's too late now

Here I can see you
The bitter side of me
Those whispers seep through
The evil they can't see
Sick, twisted brother
The plans have now unfurled
Vile like no other, set me free of
Your wicked, wicked world

The balance
Is thrown by your deception
I see this
In your twisted, dark perception
Don't look to me to be your guide
I'll drown you in the rising tide
So set me loose
I'll tie your noose
And bring you down

Here I can see you
The bitter side of me
Those whispers seep through
The evil they can't see
Sick, twisted brother
The plans have now unfurled
Vile like no other, set me free of
Your wicked, wicked world
Wicked, wicked world

Sometimes I need to believe
That you're a separate side of me
Even if that's not true
I have to silence you
Your poisoned words infect my head
So I'll paint your black heart red
And then your wicked world
Will turn to something new

Here I can see you
The bitter side of me
Sick, twisted brother
Vile like no other, set me free of
