

Only the Strong Will Survive

Axel Rudi Pell

They heard the call from the evil vault
And raised their swords in the air
Kings and Queens, the evil dreams
Their hearts full of steel and despair

Rain and thunder
The lightning strikes the earth
And a thousand warriors
They lived and died by the sword

On the run only the strong will survive
Get on down, can't escape from the hideaway
On the run only the strong will survive
On the wings of no return will they ever learn?

The battle cry, the call to die
The witch is casting the spell
"Oh Lord" they prayed, no time to wait
Don't want to fall into hell

Rain and thunder
The lightning strikes the earth
And a thousand warriors
They lived and died by the sword

On the run only the strong will survive
Get on down, can't escape from the hideaway
On the run only the strong will survive
On the wings of no return will they ever learn?
On the run

On the run
Living and dying, raising and fall till the end
On the run only the strong will survive
On the wings of no return will they ever learn?

On the run only the strong will survive
Get on down, can't escape from the hideaway
On the run only the strong will survive
On the wings of no return will they ever learn?
On the run