

Close Your Eyes

Axium

Bury your thoughts, bury my soul and pray to hold
You're too afraid to take this on and face the ridicule
Try as you might you can't fool me
The pain you hide seems so close to me

And it's ok to close your eyes to see
To make believe you're happy for the world to see
I know you think there's nothing left to do
But I'll come down to you, and I'll come down to you

Bury you face inside your hands tonight and hide the tear and Try not to contemplate these innate fears
I just can't seem to do what's needed
And leave you lost and mistreated, yeah

And it's ok to close your eyes to see
To make believe you're happy for the world to see
I know you think there's nothing left to do
But I'll come down to you, and I'll come down to you

I see the pain you feel
I know it seems real
There's nothing left to do
So I'll come down to you, down to you

And it's ok to close your eyes to see
To make believe you're happy for the world to see, yeah
I know you think there's nothing left to do
But I'll come down to you, down to you
But I'll come down to you, down to you