The Uncertainty Principle

Ayreon

His mind took flight And his eyes Have lost their light

All we have to go on Is a note

They changed the world Last night Working together Side by side

His father is
The only one who knows

You haven't been told
That was his mother on the phone
There was a tragedy last night

His father can't have been here It had to be a ghostly dream For at the fall of day He took his life!