

Had Something

Ayria

I think I want some more time
I need some more time
To take it all in
And start it again
Because all that you are
It isn't for me
It's breaking apart
It wasn't to be

Won't you understand
The reasons we couldn't do this?
They're standing in my way
With all the power trip's obliviousness
How am I deserving?

Taking almost everything I had
Used me up for everything I am
I thought you would give that much more to me
I thought we had something

Everything you are is not for me
Let it break apart
Not meant to be

I think I want some more time
I need some more time
To take it all in
And start it again
Because all that you are
It isn't for me
It's breaking apart
It wasn't to be

Looking back now
You have proven that nothing lasts forever
But a tiny moment
And time has moved us to separate dimensions

Taking almost everything I had
Used me up for everything I am
I thought you would give that much more to me
I thought we had something

Thought I knew something
But now it's nothing

Everything you are is not for me
I thought we had something

I think I want some more time
I need some more time
To take it all in
And start it again
Because all that you are
It isn't for me
It's breaking apart
It wasn't to be

Everything you said is coming true
Everything that I disliked about you