

No Signs Of Pain

Azure Ray

Standing in front of you they fade into the wall and leave behind nothing nothing at all

I know I don't understand how they forget how some will just pass us by
and take what they can get
I know I don't understand how weightless they must be without feeling
without feeling
without feeling

grasping with my fingernails as they tear through your skin leaving no signs of pain no wounds to mend

I know I don't understand how they forget
how some will just pass us by
and take what they can get
I know I don't understand how weightless they must be
without feeling
without feeling
without feeling

I know I don't understand how they forget
how some will just pass us by
and take what they can get
I know I don't understand how weightless they must be
without feeling
without feeling