These White Lights Will Bend To Make Blue

Azure Ray

Drive away Just get on the interstate And slip through this closing gate Pulled into this cheap hotel I called just to wish you well You said don't let love break you down Well just show me how and let me never be broken Tomorrow a new point of view These white lights will bend to make blue Now this can all look new to you Are you still living there Walking the streets with your hollow stare You say there's loneliness everywhere So we have nothing to loose The music plays all day long And sorrow looks beautiful And lovers seem mystical Tomorrow a new point of view These bright lights will bend to make blue Now this can all look new to you
