Your Silence

My silence shows a greater love and loyalty that you've ever kn own Because your the one haunting me What greater way could I of shown Who cares how I had to find out the rest I learned a little from you While still never doing what would crush you still With my silence I wanted you to have all I ever wanted as well Someone you could conside in Someone you felt you belong To understand I know this has got to be a hard life for you So I wanted to be your one To not have to pretend Your silence to me though Means it's true You never plan to keep me You should be able to tell me now You should be able to tell me now I've already forgiven what you can't admit We are one on the same And you laugh my love away Your silence to me Means you were never going to keep me Keep me

Azure Ray