

Ohhh ohhh ohhhh

Why would you pay to see me in a cage?

And why would you pay to see me in a cage?

Some men call the stage

Listen now I have gone

You will know

I was the only one that would have gladly died

What was wrong in the eyes of the unwell and unwise

They killed a man for his giro today

Wasn't very game, I didn't mind

I wasn't a money man anyway

They killed a man for his giro today

Why, would you pay

Why, would you pay

To see me in the cage

Just a hole across the stage

And know

When the night has gone

You might say

I was not the only one that would've died

What was wrong in the eyes of the cruel and unwise

And they killed a man for his giro today

On the off chance that you're listening

To the radio

I thought you might like to know you broke my heart

You can only start to know or hedge your bets

And take a chance you never get again

All my ties, time and time

I keep on trying hard not to try too hard

When I forgive, I won't forget

To killing time, so I'm better now

I don't need it anymore

Anything that makes you, feel hate

Can do without hate

Now I believe in love

Now I have gone

Oh yeah, I will pay

For everything you've done

What was wrong

In the eyes of the unwell and unwise

They killed a man for his giro today

Ohhh ohhh ohhhh