

Piracy

Backyard Babies

Do you remember back in the day?
I always had my different way
Getting away with everything I say
I got lucky you fell down
I guess I could emerge from underground
And I don't think you like the way it sounds

Now you're always going to be the she to me
I honestly believe that I could be
Just a little robbing called piracy
I honestly believe you're too blind to see
Head over heels, not six feet underground
(Just a little robbing called piracy)
Take what you can now
It's free, it's easy
It's called piracy

I shout yes and you scream no
That's the way personality goes
I will catch no matter how hard you throw

I started starting with a habit to quit
You quitted quitting sorting all your shit
I saw fire before the spark had been lit

Now you're always going to be the she to me
I honestly believe that I could be
Just a little robbing called piracy
I honestly believe you're too blind to see
Head over heels, not six feet underground
(Just a little robbing called piracy)
Take what you can now
It's free, it's easy
It's called piracy

I honestly believe in piracy

Now you're always going to be the she to me
I honestly believe that I could be
Just a little robbing called piracy
I honestly believe you're too blind to see
Now you're always going to be the she to me
I honestly believe that I could be
Just a little robbing called piracy
I honestly believe you're too blind to see
Head over heels, not six feet underground
Just a little robbing called piracy
Take what you can now
It's free, it's easy
It's called piracy!
