

Don't Say You're Sorry

Ball in the House

How many times must we come to the edge
How many times must we wander
What we can't face, do the answers lie behind our lies
What will it take 'cause it seems to me we're falling

Out from the world that we knew so well so long
I'm crying everyday, we're falling
Out from the love that was supposed to be growing strong
Don't say you're sorry, we've got nothing to hide
Don't try to deny what you feel inside
Don't say you're sorry, just live and let live
We can't go on in this lie, there's nothing to forgive

When do you know when you've come to the end
When do you know that it's over
How can we grow when we're holding to a faerie tale
How can we go 'cause it seems to me we've fallen

There are no good-byes and no regrets
And there is nothing left to say
And girl I know, I know it's for the best
If we just turn and walk away
