Everybody's back in town

Give me the armour and let me prepare

It can be easy or difficult, to steer

The heart and breath stops death, cheats death

It's clear

Time and tide wait for no man

Slowly realise as fast as you can

Thought I saw a glimpse of how you were at five

Ain't it strange how these things take you by, surprise

We are drifting on a deep sea
And I can't navigate the stars like my father
Oh we're drifting out to sea
Into deep water
If we're scared it puts us under

The more you talk the less you mean You told me that when I was just seventeen When it sinks in you will not always be here Funny how all your small worries disappear

We are drifting on a deep sea
And I can't navigate the stars like my father
Oh we're drifting out to sea
Into deep water

If we're scared it puts us under

If you're thinking
What you know is
True then tell them
Let them notice
If your time comes
Ask the question
Were you tender
To those you hold dear

We are drifting on a deep sea
And I can't navigate the stars like my father

Oh we're drifting out to sea Into deep water...
