

I Scream

Bang Sugar Bang

he walked her down
to the puget sound
the heat caressed them they were far too hot to care the air undressed them lost in each other's stare when she said I scream you scream mmmm love they laughed and cried trapped by time the earth was spinning but they stayed young and bare the waves were churning begging them to come and crash their world is gone they are a mural of love within this song they are immortal the stars will lead them on the moon will pull them always to where her lips part and she says I scream you scream mmmm love this is all there is