

Another Time

Bang

Another time, another place
Another day, another race
I can tell you how It really feels
You don't have to be the only one
When I'm standing right here

Another time, another space
Another look, from another face
I can tell you how It really feels
You don't have to be the only one
When I'm standing right here
You don't have to be the lonely one
You just need to be here

In the morning when the sun comes up
In the evening when the sun goes down
In the hours we search all day,
For a better way

Let me tell you how it really feels
You don't have to be the only one
When I'm standing right here
You don't have to be the lonely one
You just need to be here