

What do you want? I wanna know
You messed me up when you let me go
Now you come back 'cause your ego was stroked
From the way that I cracked after you let me go

And I know the things that we could be
But I wish you woulda cheated on me
'Cause at least I wouldn't have you haunting me
Now you're haunting me, babe
What do you want? I wanna know
I brought a dandelion you could blow
Why you stay mourning for something created
By memories baited from your loneliness, I see?

And I know the things that we could be
But I wish you woulda cheated on me
'Cause at least I wouldn't have you haunting me
Now you're haunting me, babe

It's like I wanna know I'm someone
It's like I wanna know I'm some-
Someone you have to keep, I'm on my knees
Turn the lights out on me, the lights out on me
I'm blacked out

I see your game, you make me wait
You make me wait, dangling on a string
Begging for you to come back to the ring
'Til I'm salivating for attention that you won't bring

And I know the things that we could be
But I wish you woulda cheated on me
'Cause at least I wouldn't have you haunting me
Now you're haunting me, babe

You won't call back, you're not coming
I waited up to say your name
You won't call back, you're not coming
I waited up for you to say my name
You won't call back, you're not coming
I waited up to say your name
You won't call back, you're not coming
I waited up for you to say my name

It's like I wanna know I'm someone
It's like I wanna know I'm some
Someone you have to keep, I'm on my knees
Turn the lights out on me, the lights out on me
I'm blacked out
