A heart is so easy to keep when I think of the curious look in your eyes and impossible oh, only you could really know i'll never let a little secret go all of the times you were near I forgot to say 'I'm a non-believer, but I'll pray to you every day if it would make your eyes forever stay that way if it would make you want to stay with me' all the times you've been far away, wondering I've been uncovering words I've been waiting to say to you oh, only you could really know i'll never let a little secret go