Ooh, and when the lights are low

In their eyes you'll always be a star

Bay City Rollers

So for another year, a face up on the wall Now is it really you, you turn but no-one's there Lights, now the scene is set, the final act The end of one who loved and gave, took nothing in return And as the curtain falls you hear them call for more But in your heart you know it's over, it's over Ooh, don't let it get you down You made them laugh, you made them cry you know Ooh, and when the lights are low In their eyes you'll always be a star Remember those were the days, your name in lights Up in the stars, your friends all drinking champagne from your Now that was only yesterday, or so it seems But still the years have passed you by, the times have changed so fast Now memories and all the dreamings in the night Are all that's left of yesterday Ooh, don't let it get you down You made them laugh, you made them cry you know
