

Soon Come Tomorrow

Beady Eye

Said come tomorrow, wave goodbye yesterday
Said come tomorrow, we'll echo out today
Well come tomorrow as soon as you can
This day has been far too much for me man
I see the faces they're laughing, crying
Why is it our hearts are breaking, dying?
Once was a girl with no care in the world
Don't let her be only yesterday's girl

What kind of love burns holes in your heart?
Holes that run deep like they'll pull you apart
Smoke it, don't drop it, right to the end
Breathe in, breath out and then breathe in again
This song is over, so look past the end, soon come tomorrow again

Happy despising a moment, maybe it's all
Memories last not forever but pretty long
No need for words when you're speaking for real
And no need to tell me, I know how you feel

What kind of love burns holes in your heart?
Holes that run deep like they'll pull you apart
Smoke it, don't drop it, right to the end
Breathe in, breath out and then breathe in again
This song is over, so look past the end, soon come tomorrow again

Smoke it, don't drop it, right to the end
Breathe in, breath out and then breathe in again
This song is over, so look past the end, soon come tomorrow
Smoke it, don't drop it, right to the end
Breathe in, breath out and then breathe in again
This song is over, so look past the end, soon come tomorrow again

While we were sleeping the world moved on
While we were sleeping the dark turned to dawn
Nothing remains of the plans that we made
Only a parallel future to face