

Dark Poet

Beardfish

I could see you dance in the middle of the road to my heart
Your body moving - a reflection of your soul

I was alone, I was tired of this place, of this life
And there you were, like a remedy for my pain

You're so alone
Heart of stone, they said
They couldn't be more wrong
They just couldn't be more wrong

Your voice is fading in the echoes of a song you once sang
Tired and lonely, yet so strong that it makes me cry...

Shout out loud, dark poet full of sight
The time has come to make them

Save you
Trespassing through time, if they could
Save you
Knowledge is a crime, and I shall
Save you
Make your words live on and on and on...

I could see you dance in the middle of the road to my heart...
