

Destined Solitaire

Beardfish

Brewing my potions, it all boils down to this:
what's wrong with me
and why do I feel this way?
I would really like to be the source of someone's misery
I would really like to mean everything for someone... just like you

I thought I was the classic definition of a lone wolf
It is kind of irritating being this self-depreved fool oh... "twist of fate" we call it when everything turns inside out she renders me in tears, then leaves saying: "I've lost faith in you"

Free speech isn't real although the thought was good Bet that they will shoot you down midst silence and serenity stuff our fucking faces full of grease and watch us burst Fat and bloated silhouettes of humans cursed

I thought I was the classic definition
of a lone wolf
It is kind of irritating
being this self-depreved fool
oh... I just miss her, I miss her so much when she's gone
And she's gone a lot

Brewing my potions, it all boils down to this:
what's wrong with me
and why do I feel this way?
I would really like to be the source
of someone's misery
I would really like to mean everything for
someone... just like you

So would you follow me into the night And let me kiss your open palms I know of a shelter from the hurricane it's coming now, expanding, devouring everything

Being alone has paralyzed my body, I'm lost and everything fails The last kiss was bittersweet, bitter, sour... will I remain here 'til they kick me out...
Must be nine hundred fuckin' cigarettes since she left me, and I was the source of her misery... poor blind me

I thought I was the classic definition
of a lone wolf
It is kind of irritating

being this self-deprevedated fool
oh... I just miss her, I miss her so much
when she's gone
And she's gone a lot