

Different Ways

Beatsteaks

I can't believe this could be the end, but we've spoken these empty words? I remember everything - it hurts, why do you simply walk away - who's different now. It's not what you said before, not what you said before! Hey what do you think now? Maybe, you say the same! Anyway - we go different ways, we have different friends in different places - and I wonder why - it's not what you said before, not what you said before! You turn away, away from me!