

Under The Sun

Bebo Norman

Every breath I breathe
And every song I sing
And every love I've ever known
Will never be enough
To ever fill me up
Like the calling of my soul

I know that everything
One day everything will cry out

Everything under the sun
Voices sing out to the one
Who made the stars up in the sky and you and I
Every heart that ever hurt
And every kingdom on the earth
Will see the heavens open up
Over everything under the sun

From the city streets
And from the fields of green
And up from every crying stone
There will rise a voice
That will leave no choice
It will come to call us home

I know that everything
One day everything will cry out

Let it fall just like the rain
Hear it calling out your name
Let it come inside and take you over

Every breath I breathe
And every song I sing
And every love I've ever known