

Nowhere

Beborn Beton

I saw your picture in the news
Knowing you're somewhere
I haven't seen the warning sign
Although you were my friend
I hear your voice
I can still remember
I see you falling down
Still feel the warmth of your hand

Nowhere to run, nowhere to hide
When there's no place to flee from remorse
Repentance won't alter the course
There's no escape from myself

Whatever happened, there's no use
Knowing they'll never find me
If only I could turn back time
To make a change, but then
You had the choice we've Always been contenders
Give me a reason why
I still feel the warmth of your hand

Nowhere to run, nowhere to hide
When there's no place to flee from remorse
Repentance won't alter the course
There's no escape from myself