Breathing Light

Becoming the Archetype

The final chapter has already been written
The story has been told
In another dimension, beyond the reach of time
There is no more, no more to behold

See the artificial light now
It is flickering, fading away
Eternity is right now
It is fusing with today

Breathing light We anticipate Breathing light Or suffocate

See the darkness that conceals you Evaporating, exposing the soul And as the light reveals you Let it in, let it take control

As death corrupts
Beauty is revealed
As the whole world falls apart
Broken souls are healed

We are breathing light It sets our hearts glow We are breathing light Eternal is the overflow