Cardiac Rebellion

Becoming the Archetype

From somewhere in the darkest depths Within the cloth of secrets kept Out of silence death maintained Resounds a voice that shakes the frame Listen now unto the call Like nothing heard before Living hearts begin to crawl Bursting forth through stubborn flesh The invisible nature is taking over Taking over from within The invisible creature is breaking though Breaking through the skin Hey! Clear the way! It's a revolution! Cardiac rebellion! And now we see them marching Dragging bodies in their wake To the call there is no stopping It is forever that's at stake It's a cardiac rebellion So join the revolution