

Into Oblivion

Becoming the Archetype

It hurts to see you live your life revolving around death
And to see your heart when I can't see your face
So far away
One foot in front of the other, step to the right
Time has it's way and I'll be right here waiting for you