

Monolith

Becoming the Archetype

I stood at the foot of the mountain and watched the fire descend.

The earth trembled.

Smoke filled the air.

I heard the sound of a trumpet calling me into the darkness.

I ascended to the top of the mountain.

I stood in the center of the flame, yet I was not consumed.