Embrace

I don't know what you want, I don't hear what you said Truth behind the lies 'Cause I can't see what's in your head And spread your wings and fly, out in a brave new world Let this be my prayer, to keep you safe when I'm not there Can we love and live apart, I don't know, no, I don't know How can we divide the heart, I don't know, no, I don't know

And when the night falls, and when the sky falls, I long for your embrace And in the cold night, under the street light I long for your embrace Living separate lives, I have faith in you, away from you Like a lonely child, I will hang on every word Embrace

Through the mists of time, lovers can be friends The power of the human heart The secrets in the souls of men All my blessings in disguise I don't know, no, I don't know Reunited we will rise I don't know, no, I don't know

And when the night falls, and when the sky falls, I long for your embrace And in the cold night, under the street light I long for your embrace Living separate lives, I have faith in you, away from you Like a lonely child, I will hang on every word

And when the night falls, and when the sky falls, I long for your embrace Another daybreak, another heartache I long for your embrace

Living separate lives Away from you Embrace, embrace The lonely, lonely life Lonely days and nights We can live our life Embrace, embrace With our separate lives Embrace, embrace The lonely, lonely lives Lonely days and nights I will never send away Embrace, embrace The lonely, lonely lives Embrace the child inside The lonely, lonely lives
