

Gehenna

Before the Dawn

Pull the waves
Move in the seas
Strut the floor
Getting near

To reach another plan
In every wave
Far away from me

When I hold my breathe
When I finally feel the pain
The pain caused in me

For ages I held my breathe
While sinking deeper
Phases of hope and death
For the ones who barely feel

To reach another side
In every tail
Far away from feel

When I catch my breathe
When I finally see the plans
The plans made for me

For ages I held my breathe
While sinking deeper
Phases of hope and death
For the ones who barely feel

You told me that Gehenna is a spiritual place
And the night is full of love and joy
But you lied
Every wave was made to mislead me
And closed my eyes from the real world
Your world

For ages I held my breathe
While sinking deeper
Phases of hope and death
For the ones who barely feel

Still holding my breathe
Sinking deeper, still
