

The key to your box, it is out of my reach
I've been searching for it so long
If I could live in the open sea
I would surely have found the one

And I'd open the lid, look in, see stones
Ooh, here by the shore, it's so quiet
And no pebbles for miles around
It's getting dark and I wonder
If I ever will find my love

So please open the lid and bring the stones
'Cause the answer must come from you alone
See, I need some very few of your blue pebbles
I don't want to [Incomprehensible]
Should I stay or go?

Tell me why do you hide inside the deep
With your jewelery box, the stones, the key
In the wave-clutter, I can see your hair
Why won't you come near? Why don't you dare?

See, I need some very few of your blue pebbles
No real love, no aquamarines, [Incomprehensible] points
Should I stay or go?
I need a true hearted lover
Oh, mermaid, bring me the stones
