

First Light

Bella Morte

As the rain washes distance from her voice
Something stirs beneath us
And hope awakens to the calm

In the depth of her eyes a promise sleeps
Resting soft, unspoken
In dormant dreams as blue as dawn

May sees the first light shine again
Into a night without an end

And the fear echoes deep within the heart
As I tempt forever
To find her way into my arms

With the dark comes another sleepless night
Longing for the moment
That two will stand against the world
And through the years one night remains as clear as trust beneath the rain

In your eyes see this life
Please don't turn away tonight
Or ever more

Let us cry, let us try
We are one within the night
And ever more

We are one, you and I
Please don't turn away tonight
Or ever more

I can see all the fears that lie inside
Please don't turn away tonight
Or ever more

In your eyes see this life
Please don't turn away tonight
Or ever more

Let us cry, let us try
We are one within the night
And ever more