

Thank You For Breaking My Heart

Ben Folds Five

Yeah, I want a different answer
So, I ask you once again
But the truth's in the silence
And this time I got it
It's over

Thank you for breaking my heart
Now I know that it's in there
I left it wide open and asked you to stay
But you know better

Guess I thought it wouldn't happen
And I could care until it hurt
Damn the ironic timing, the clouds and their lining
That open up and pour

And thank you for breaking my heart
Now I know that it's in there
What a fool to imagine that you'd feel the same
But you know better

Rain has washed the leaves away
Skeletons and stars
I'm pulling the door too
And closing the blinds

So thank you for breaking my heart
Now I know what it feels like
And it hurts so bad
Tell me this will pass
Soon and I'll know better